Head Teachers Section

Dear Parents and Carers,

It's been another busy few weeks at Holy Trinity, with a lot of preparations taking place as we enter the festive season.

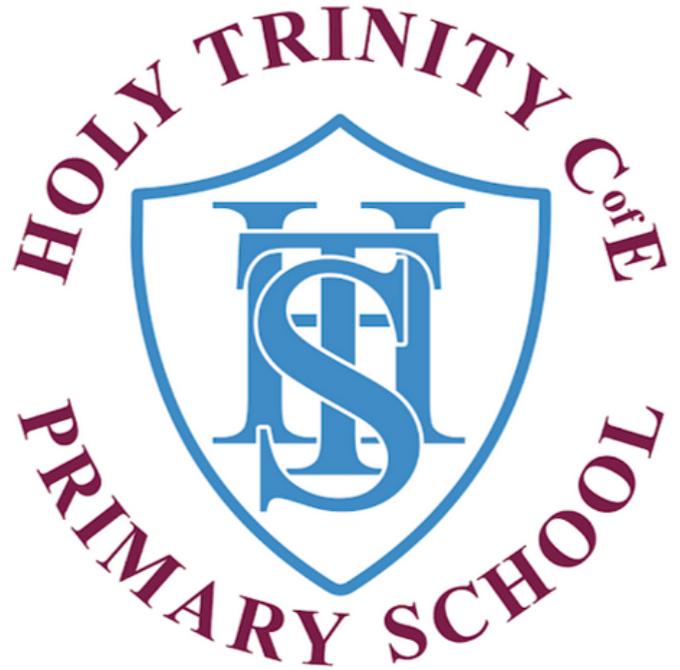

Firstly, I am delighted to share with you the final report from our SIAMS inspection which took place earlier in the term, you'll be receiving this via email later today. The inspection was a positive experience and I believe the report captures many of the wonderful things that make our school such a special place. At the heart of this are the wonderful children, the dedicated staff team and the supportive community who all contribute to make Holy Trinity such a fantastic place to be. Thank you to those of you who gave up your time to meet with, or talk to, the inspector during her visit. Your thoughts and experiences helped guide the outcome and we are very appreciative of your support during the process.

Last week, I held a curriculum coffee morning to share with parents and carers a renewed vision for the curriculum at Holy Trinity, building upon the good work that has been undertaken over the past few years. This was also an opportunity for parents to share their thoughts on what they want the curriculum to offer their child/ren. I'm keen to get as many voices included in this as possible, therefore I'll be sending out the slides from the presentation as well as a short survey to capture your views. I'd be grateful if you could find five minutes to share your views through this so we can ensure the curriculum meets the needs of our full school community, empowering all to flourish.

We were very excited to welcome local author, Sian Hughes, in to school a few weeks ago. Sian visited the children in year 1 and year 2, introducing her book 'Cat Wanted'. This was an excellent opportunity for the children and I know many of them found the afternoon really enjoyable and engaging. Part of our intention is to arrange opportunities for children to meet 'Inspire Me Visitors' to help bring our curriculum to life and inspire the next generation of authors, scientist, musicians and other experts in subject disciplines.

As we head into the festive season, please do take the time to check the calendar on the school website so you can keep tabs of any of the events in the next few weeks.
Best wishes,

Mr David Le Templier
Head Teacher
